Sir Robert A. Falconer, LL.D., D.Litt., K.C.M.G.,
President,
The University of Toronto, Toronto.

Dear Sir,

I hope that, as a junior member of the faculty of the University, I am not taking too great a liberty in addressing a letter to you personally, but as time is short and everyone is out of town I have decided to do so.

After a medical re-examination at the Armouries yesterday I was raised from category C3 to category B2, so my claim for exemption will come before a tribunal, probably in about ten days. I have asked for exemption on the ground of the importance of my continuing my present work, and I have understood from Professor Bensley that he was very anxious that I should secure exemption if at all possible.

I have just written to Dr. Bensley asking him to send me a letter to present to the tribunal stating my importance in this Department, and I now take the liberty of making a similar request of you.

DEPARTMENT OF BIOLOGY

I occupy the position of Demonstrator in Biology, and my work comprises taking charge of the first year Medical classes in Mammalian Anatomy; the premedical (P.&B., B.&P.) and Arts (Biology) courses in the same subject and in Comparative Anatomy (lectures and laboratory work), which concerns students in second year P.&B. and B.&P. and third year Biology; and the fourth year pre-medical (B.&P.) work in Neurology.

I have also been doing some research work in neurology in what time I could find, and have been devoting the summer to that.

I have understood from Dr. Bensley that he has tried to get someone else to take part of this work, in order that I might have more time for research, but has been unable to find any one.

Hoping that my request will not appear presumptuous, and that you will be able and inclined to write in time to reach me before my case comes up for consideration,

I am

Yours respectfully,

E. Horne Craigie.
